

Job Description

Deskwanted & Deskmag (Berlin)

Project management, public relations, marketing

We are a young company based in Berlin and looking for interested people who are willing to get practical knowledge in the fields of project management, public relations and marketing. The internship will be possible between 3 and 12 month and you will be part of our young team and working in a coworking space in Berlin.

You will be integrated in the project "Work around" which is a project that wants to convince companies and ministries to integrate coworking in their offices. So a slight understanding of the phenomenon coworking and interest in the new way of working would be an advantage. The working language is English. Beneath that basic knowledge of German would be good but not a necessity.

We are looking forward to your application to: joel@deskwanted.com.

Basic Information about Deskwanted: Our three main fields of business are: an online booking system for coworking spaces (www.deskwanted.com), a management tool for people running a coworking space, and the online magazine deskmag (www.deskmag.com).

Joel Dullroy